Running for the fun of it

Panorama resident Leigh Ann Elmore has been running for fun since her high school days in Coldspring. She entered her first half-marathon fifteen years ago in Huntsville and has been gradually working up the difficulty ladder with half-marathons at Disney World and on the Hawaiian garden isle of Kawaii.

She ran her first full marathon in Houston in 2015 and has since run two more. Her time in the most recent one was 4:04 which is only nine minutes away from what it would take to qualify for the Boston Marathon. That's her goal.

Leigh Ann likes running all 27 holes of the Panorama golf course on days it is closed. She says running all 27 holes is the equivalent of almost 8 miles.

Leigh Ann has lived in Panorama with her husband, Kyle, since 1993, first on Thunderbird near the clubhouse and later on Thunderbird closer to League Line. The Elmores now live on Orinda in the Westchester area.

Meet the candidates on April 19

A public forum hosted by the Panorama Lions Club will be held in the clubhouse on Tuesday, April 19 beginning at 6:30 pm. Panorama residents will have the opportunity to hear comments from each of the five candidates running for mayor and city council, and to submit questions. Lynn Scott is facing Bill King in the Mayor's race, and two challengers, Bob Lamons and Erskine Hard, will be facing incumbent Joe Watson in the race for City Council Position 4.

If you wish to submit a question for the candidates, use the QR code shown at right or come early and fill out a handwritten form.

All Panorama residents are urged to attend. The forum will last approximately 90 minutes.

ON THE TEE BOX With Ruthie McGrath

Do you have a favorite club or two in your bag? Those are the ones that do what you want them to and you feel comfortable using them. I asked a number of players what their favorite clubs are, and why they are their favorites. VJ Derrington said her G5 Ping driver is old but it's the favorite club in her bag. She loves it when her ball flies straight and FAR! Her second favorite club is her Callaway Big Bertha 3 wood and she can use it for several different shots. The shot she uses most is the "Andrea McMichael Knock Down Shot" (because Andrea taught her to do it when she first started playing golf). That shot keeps her ball flight low, but still goes a good distance.

Bobby Harber says his favorite club is a King Cobra 5 wood and his next favorite is a Ping 6 iron. He can hit it variable distances of 130 to 160 yards. His old Ping putter that he's had for over 35 years is another favorite. He says it doesn't putt as good as it used to. He isn't sure if it's the age of the club or the age of its owner, but they still get along pretty good!

Richard Kobarg says he uses three clubs that are his favorites: his 3 wood, used for teeing and fairway use, his sand wedge for chipping in the sand, and his putter. He chose those as scoring ones since most strokes taken in 18 holes are taken with those three.

Dana Howze wrote that she could use most anything off the tee but uses a Ping Le 2 for her driver and 5 wood. Her old Ping Anser does a pretty good job on the green so those three are her favorites.

Linda Belyeu says she just loves her Callaway 3 wood as it is her favorite as it's straight and long. Her new Majek Hybrid 4 wood is next and she uses it for her approach shot and then there is her Odyssey White Hot Putter as it has helped her with #1 putting for years.

Ashley Knoll, Panorama's teaching instructor says her favorite clubs are her Titleist driver because she can really depend on it to find the fairway. Then comes her TaylorMade spider blade putter because she loves to visualize her putts going into the hole and her putter helps execute what her eyes are seeing. Her Titleist Vokey 60 degree wedge is a favorite because she always has loved hitting from the bunker. Her swing coach as a junior golfer was Dick Harmon. The Harmon's were world famous bunker coaches and she says she was fortunate enough to learn from the best in the business.

Maybe some of the clubs mentioned are ones you count on when playing. I think that is why they are included in the favorite category.
